Chief Executive Director

Joshua O. Miller is the founder and Executive Director of C&I Studios. Starting as a small media company operating out of his apartment, he has grown C&I Studios to a nationwide media company, with headquarters in South Florida, and operating out of Washington DC, New York, and Los Angeles California.

Joshua has a wide range of media experience, working with companies big and small to communicate their messages to the world. Specializing in film, he has a knack for communicating stories in ways that stick with people.

Joshua has produced media for companies as large as Coca-Cola and as small as your neighborhood restaurant. Most importantly, Joshua provides a unique ability to take your company's message and clearly communicate it with the world, in a way that excites and inspires.

Joshua resides in South Florida with his wife, Amy, daughter, Freedom and son, Champion.
